

SURVIVORMAN

Each episode of the OLN original series Survivorman finds filmmaker and naturalist, Les Stroud in a remote wilderness location demonstrating primitive methods of survival such as creating fire without matches, building a shelter against the elements and finding food in barren environments. Les is armed with only his camera equipment and rugged determination. With his unique filming-rigs and an abundance of dark humor, he documents his seven-day journey on film as he overcomes seemingly insurmountable obstacles and explores the amazing and beautiful natural world around him.
